

KEVIN O'NEILL

Support – The 4 Keys

In the business world and especially when in the role of management - support is key. Following a nucleus of being at the helm of a support role will be beneficial.

1. A manager provides the support to succeed to those employees managed
2. Teamwork is a support mechanism that is essentially a mandatory skill
3. In the future consultants supporting employees and managers is key
4. Building systems that will be thinking towards the future is key